Rush Fall 2017

Rush 24/7/365 is one of the many things expected of all Tekes. I take this to heart, using everyday conversation to sell this fraternity to potential members. Recruitment is one of the most important things that will contribute to the success of the Lambda Gamma chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon. We were proud to welcome two new members into our fraternity during the fall semester, Frater Kaden Fitzgerald and Frater Jake Sanders. However, our work has just begun. Our goal of 20 active members is attainable in the spring and we are all excited to work hard to achieve that goal.

Yours in the Bond

Frater Donaven Hill, 442

Philanthropy Fall 2017

For Philanthropy, we participated in the St. Jude Run, with controversial bad boy Frater Devon Snyder finishing in first place. Our team raised 1,390 dollars for fighting juvenile cancer. We also participated in Tank-a-Teke, with a dunking booth that raised 131 dollars. The ever-popular Teke-o Tuesdays raised 87 dollars, and the inaugural Teke bake sale raised 55 dollars. Several Fraters did service hours for many organizations, including Food Busters, an Active Shooter Seminar, the Salvation Army and a Golfing event. Overall, we have raised 1,643 dollars on behalf of charities.

Yours in the Bond,

Frater Devon Snyder, 444

Recap on Social Events from Fall 2017

This past semester was a fun time for all people within Tau Kappa Epsilon. We had socials just about every weekend we could and had great attendance among the men in the chapter. Our biggest social event of the year was Halloween weekend. Everyone in the chapter pitched in to help set up (which took about two days) and while doing that, our relationships with each other grew. During our Welcome Weekend social, I was standing outside at the check in table and a group of people came up and let us know that we were the friendliest and most fun fraternity they have ever been to. We tried and succeeded in keeping the connotation of us at that level all year.

Yours in the Bond,

Frater Andrew Munson, 439
